

Corra Linn Distillery

Pale gold. Slightly tart opening sniffs. Semi ripe blackberries? Sponge cake? A touch of unripe stone fruits? Slightly sweeter after air contact adding hints of vanilla and chocolate box. A similar theme on the palate: unripe stone fruits (especially nectarine or feijoa) followed by a finish reminiscent of Moscato grappa. Excellent balance. Easily one of the most distinctive Tassie whiskies to date

